

This summer semester 2025 | Seminar P365

International conflicts about the three common spaces: Antarctica, High Seas and Deep Seabed, Outer Space

The three common spaces (also known as global commons) are all under stress.

While their basic characteristic is the non-appropriation by States, we see more and more attempts to abolish or to put into question and misinterpret this principle. This is done primarily out of geostrategic and economic interests. This seminar provides an understanding of the governance of the three common spaces, analyses the conflicts, which are currently leading to serious threats regarding peace and stability, and searches for ways and means to safeguard them as beacon of equitability and sustainability in international relations.

Common spaces 3

What is a global common?

6 Concrete conflicts

Introduction: Friday, 09.05.2025 | 3pm - 7pm online session

Block seminar 1: Friday, 20.06.2025 | 9am - 7pm in presence
Seminarraum 124, (IfP)

Block seminar 2: Saturday, 21.06.2025 | 9am - 7pm in presence
Seminarraum 124, (IfP)

30 years of diplomatic experience of the lecturer

Application of international law and IR theories

1 Team project

more information on www.schrogl.com